Tomahawk, WI 3/19/2013 (Expedated) – Here are the Tuesday leaders of the pack.

Sprint (NYSE:S) is one of our end of day leaders having doubled its daily average trading over 81 million shares. The company recently announced that it will be honored as a Marketplace winner during the Seventh Annual U.S. Disability Matters Awards Banquet and Conference. This is one of the most important Corporate Awards Conferences in the U.S. for helping solve accessibility problems for people with disabilities.

The highly coveted awards will be presented on April 16 during the annual Disability Matters conference in Jacksonville, Fla. Sprint is one of seven corporations to be honored. This is the first time Sprint has been recognized with this prestigious award.

Two Harbors Investment Corp. (NYSE: TWO; NYSE MKT: TWO.WS) really opened some eyes today trading over 49 million shares blowing their daily average of 5.5 million out of the water. Two Harbors Investment Corp. operates as a real estate investment trust (REIT) that focuses on investing in, financing, and managing residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS), residential mortgage loans, and other financial assets.

Today the company announced pricing of their public offering of 50,000,000 shares of its common stock. The company came out with an offering price of $13.46 per share, which would be a total gross (before underwriting discount and commissions and estimated expenses) of right around $673.0 million. There is also an option for underwriters that gives them 30 days to purchase up to an additional 7,500,000 shares of the company's common stock . The offering is expected to close on or about March 22, 2013.

Microsoft's (NASDAQ: MSFT) is slightly ahead of its daily average trading over 50 million shares today. The company made some moves recently as they plan to transform the Xbox into an entertainment platform. One of those moves comes in the form hiring Nancy Tellem to head up its original content efforts.

Tellem, once served as the President of CBS. During her time with the company she is credited with helping steer the network to first place by acquiring marketable, mainstream content.
